GROSS INSULT

Offered Head of Christendom by the Kentucky Historical Society.

Its Register Used For Display of Dense Ignorance and Bigotry.

Catholics Surprised That Such Hostile Feeling Exists in Kentucky.

SOCIETY SHOULD DISCLAIM APPROVAL

The editor of the Kentucky Irish America received too late for notice in last week's issue a specially addressed and marked copy of the Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society, which under the head, "The Fatal Day," offers a grievous and uncalculated insult to the Head of Christendom and the Catholic Church. Because of its source and the prominence of the officers and others connected with the Kentucky Historical Society, from which better things were expected, we reproduce the article in full and comment in another column, otherwise it would have been consigned to the waste basket. Catholics may well ponder when they read the following:

The fatal day in France has come and gone. Had Pope Leo XIII. been in the Vatican things would never have come to such an impasse as now exists. Leo was too astute to have laid his hands on the wheel of a "Corlis engine" in the vain endeavor to stop it. He was too human to beat his brains out in the vain effort to break down a stone wall. He knew the age in which he lived and the changes it had necessitated in the policy of the Church. He knew full well the strength of the Church in America, utterly free from all State control, and would have guided the free Church of France in a path all its own, on account of the peculiar conditions which there existed.

Leo XIII. was a "nineteenth century man," and Pope Pius X. is an Egyptian Pharaoh, mummified and unwound and coming to life again in the twentieth century; a living anachronism, a mediaeval Pope, with mediaeval aspirations and ambitions, but with a modern environment. "He had taken position on the center of the track and had called the French clergy to support him from behind, and before him in the distance rumbled the oncoming train—the fatal December 17." The train came and his Holiness and the hierarchy of France, who thought that the Government in the end would quell before their solemn protests, are lying maimed and bruised somewhere along the track. Pius X. will soon know, if he does not do so now, that the "eldest daughter of the papacy" has kicked against the hierarchical pricks and wants to be mistress in her own household for the future.

"The Vatican has ordered non-compliance with the new law and the Government has ordered compliance. Does any one doubt which side will win? Pius X. has sent the wily Italian Mons. Montagnini to France, who was there with the explicit purpose and understanding of organizing the resistance to the new law and the obstruction of its enforcement. And France has tweaked the Papal nose by taking this Italian prelate and escorting him to the frontier, forcibly expelling him therefrom from French territory. No wonder that the Pope was surprised and awake December 17, for such treatment at the hands of the 'eldest daughter' was wholly unexpected.

"The summary action on the part of the Government is to be explained by the fact that the Catholic hierarchy, while ostensibly rejecting the provisions of the law, has yet Jesuitically availed itself of its provisions as to salary, pensions and especially of the right of assembly, not accorded under the 'Concordat.' Moreover the Pope, in violation of the provisions of that instrument, but in accordance with those of the new law, at once filled all the Episcopal vacancies without the formerly necessary Governmental approval, with men after his own heart. Then he assembled these men under the new law. For what purpose? To plan the complete destruction and defeat of the law itself.

"Here the Pope, by his Jesuitical conduct, completely overreached himself and forewarned the Government of what was coming. And when the hour came the Government deftly took the advantage offered and, by appropriating the mass of correspondence in Montagnini's house, has possessed itself of all the plans of Rome, and has made its own position—simply enforcing the law—possible and justifiable in the sight of France.

Catholics can hardly believe that Gov. Beckham, Secretary of State Chesney, Auditor Hager, Attorney General Hayes, Treasurer Bosworth, Gen. Fayette Hewitt, Judge Hobson or W. W. Longmire will not disavow approval of the article above quoted and which should have no place in the archives of their society.

BLOOD POISON FATAL.

Aloysius Hardesty, formerly of Lebanon, but since his marriage to Miss Lily Banna, of this city, a resident of Memphis, died Tuesday at Cincinnati of blood poisoning that followed an operation performed last week. The sad news caused sincere regret here and in Marion and Nelson counties, where deceased had a wide circle of relatives and friends. His remains were brought to the residence of his brother-in-law, Magistrate Edward O'Connor, 1111 Thirtieth street, and Thursday morning the funeral took place from the Sacred Heart church, when the solemn requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Patrick J. Walsh. For the bereaved wife there is the most sincere sympathy.

MOURN HIS DEATH.

Memorial and Resolution of Division I, A. O. H., For James Rodgers.

Division I, A. O. H., at its regular meeting last Friday night adopted by silent but unanimous vote the following memorial and resolution on the death of the late James Rodgers, than whom no one stood higher in the order:

Our Father in heaven, with whose will in all things we are in humble accord, has called to his eternal reward our dearly beloved and highly esteemed brother, James Rodgers, whose death claimed suddenly and under distressing circumstances on May 9, 1907, while he was engaged at his usual occupation. It is our fervent prayer that his good soul is happy in the presence of our Divine Redeemer, whom he faithfully served in this life. Generous in mind, heart and in hand, James Rodgers had endeared himself to all who had the pleasure of his association, and particularly so to his brothers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which society he was one of the first and most earnest members in this city. For our order and its aim he ever bore the strongest love, and to his early efforts and sacrifices in the days of laying the foundation is due much of the success that has attended the work and growth of the order in our city and State. The members of the A. O. H. deeply mourn his death, feeling that thereby the order has sustained an irreparable loss, the country of his adoption the loss of a staunch and righteous citizen, Ireland the loss of an honorable, exemplary and patriotic son, and his family the separation from a gentle, kind and loving father, who was respected by all men. In humble submission to the will of God it is

Resolved, By Division I, A. O. H., of Jefferson county, Ky., that the sincere sympathy of its members in this city, and the family of our deceased brother; and

Resolved, That the foregoing memorial of him be adopted as the expression of this division and be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, and that a copy be sent to the family, and to our official National and State papers, viz., the National Hibernian and the Kentucky Irish American.

James P. Barry, Thomas J. Dolan, John M. Mulloy, Committee.

WESTERN BISHOPS

Together in Rome in Larger Numbers Than For Years.

Right Rev. Camillus P. Maes, Bishop of Covington, arrived last week in Rome and went to the hospice of the Sacramentarian Fathers at St. Claudius. Bishops Fox, of Green Bay, Mich.; O'Gorman, of Sioux Falls, and Lillis, of Leavenworth, Kan., together with Archbishop Seton, Stoner and Stanton, were dining by the Irish Bishop at the Minerva. It was the largest number of Bishops from the English-speaking world gathered together in Rome for many years. Bishop Maes is on his way to Louvain, Belgium, where he will attend the golden jubilee of the American College. Bishop Maes is President of the Board of Directors of the college. Many other Bishops and priests of the United States will also attend the celebration. Before returning Bishop Maes will visit Munich, Germany, where he will select stained glass windows for St. Mary's Cathedral at Covington, to be the piece de resistance in the handsome Kentucky edifice.

FATHER "TOM'S" JUBILEE.

Early this month Father "Tom" Shaw, the oldest Catholic priest in Northern Illinois, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with St. Patrick's church at LaSalle. The guest of honor at the jubilee will be the Most Rev. James E. Quigley, Archbishop of Chicago and a former pupil of Father Shaw. This celebration will signalize Father "Tom's" retirement, but not because of any physical or mental disability to continue as a worker in the field of active church duty. He is in excellent health and his faculties are unimpaired, he being one of Bishop one of the supervisors of schools for the Peoria diocese. For years Father Shaw was one of the best known missionaries in the country, traveling from coast to coast to preach.

HELP THE CLUB.

Friends of the Catholic Woman's club are urged to visit the New York Store on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon of next week and take advantage of the very generous offer of Mrs. Hafner, who is giving free lessons in baking and preparing fine salads, etc. The ladies expect to realize a neat sum for their club house building fund.

TOMORROW

Will Be Gala Day For Catholic Knights of Falls Cities.

Father Rock to Preach Sermon at the Annual Solemn Vespers.

Knights of St. John, Uniform Rank, Branches and Bands in Parade.

THOMAS FEELEY IS GRAND MARSHAL

With fair weather tomorrow will be a gala day for the Catholic Knights of America of Louisville, Jeffersonville and New Albany, the occasion being the annual parade and solemn vespers for the Central Committee and the united branches of the three cities. For this event special preparation has been made in the past three weeks and every detail has been arranged for what should prove the largest and most imposing demonstration ever made here by the Catholic Knights.

With the Catholic Knights and Uniform Rank will be all the Commanderies of the Knights of St. John under the command of Col. Poppe, who have been assigned the post of honor. Next will come the two companies of the Uniform Rank, commanded by Capt. Gus Kane and Ben Hund, and then will follow the various branches in their numerical order, and all under the guidance of Thomas Feeley, who was the unanimous choice for Grand Marshal.

The special meeting of the Central Committee held to hear the reports of the special committees previously appointed was largely attended and very enthusiastic. Charles Hill and John Kelly, who had conferred with Rev. Father Leo Greulich, of St. Anthony's church, reported that the Knights would be heartily welcomed there by the pastor and people, and that Father Rock, of the Cathedral, had been invited by Father Leo and would preach the annual sermon at the solemn vespers, to which the delegates to the Central Committee were instructed to specially invite their respective pastors. Father Rock is a pioneer Knight and his selection assures a sermon that every Catholic Knight should endeavor to hear.

President Joe McGinn occupied the chair and introduced Joseph Silber, President of Branch 35, who gave the assurance of a cordial welcome to the Knights and their friends upon the part of his branch, which would greet them with a reception and refreshments after the church ceremonies. His remarks were warmly applauded and were happily responded to by Rev. Father Leo Greulich, of St. Anthony's church, who presided over the ceremony. Members were also named to see the Chief of Police regarding a mounted escort for the parade and also to procure hacks for the clergy, invited guests and several of the older members who are unable to walk.

Accompanying the Roman Knights will be their band, and the branches will have with them their recently organized band, which will make this the occasion for their first public appearance. The commanderies, companies and branches will assemble at St. Mary's Hall, on Eighth and Grayson streets, at 1:30 o'clock, and at 2 sharp the police and parade will move, proceeding in Eighth to Market and thence down Market to St. Anthony's at Twenty-third, where the Knights will be sung, assisted by a largely augmented choir. It is the wish of the officers of every branch in the Falls Cities that their members turn out in this parade, and they are also urged to invite their young men friends to join with them. The Central Committee has done everything to make this occasion a memorable one in the history of the order, and all that now remains to crown their efforts for success is for each member to regard it as his duty to turn out and make the parade one worthy of the Catholic Knights of America.

Councilman Michael Reichert, delegate to the Supreme Council, was present and gave an interesting synopsis of the proceedings of the national convention, after which the Central Committee by motion approved the course of the Kentucky delegates, Messrs. Thomas Gleeson, of Covington, and Michael Reichert, of this city, who had faithfully carried out every instruction of the Kentucky State Council. Col. Reichert will make his official report at the regular June meeting.

NICE TRIP.

James Welsh, of the Louisville Packing Company and well known in Hibernian circles, and John Welsh, with the Drummond Manufacturing Company, leave tomorrow for an extended trip and visit to their brothers, Michael and John Welsh, who are in business at Coxsackie, N. Y. Returning they will take the ocean voyage from New York and spend a week at the Jamestown Exposition.

VATICAN COUNCIL.

From Rome comes announcement that the historic Vatican Council sessions will be reopened in 1913. This now world-famous council, the last of the great Ecumenical Councils of the Roman Catholic Church, has never been formally closed, though temporarily suspended in 1870. It was in this council that the last dogma of the Catholic Church was promulgated, that of the Immaculate Conception, by Pope Pius IX. In his presence also placed the United States under the special tutelage of the Immaculate Conception, the golden anniversary of which was celebrated last year.

BEAUTIFUL

Was May Rosary Procession At Dominican Church Sunday.

The rosary procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin last Sunday afternoon at St. Louis Bertrand's church was one of the largest and most beautiful of the May processions ever held, over 300 children taking part and fifteen young ladies carrying banners symbolic with the different mysteries of the rosary. Solemn vespers were sung, and a sermon delivered by Rev. Father Dunn on the mysteries of the rosary. Just preceding benediction, which followed, the procession entered the church and after marching through the aisles grouped around the statue of the Blessed Virgin to assist in the crowning, which was done by little Agnes Finegan, who made a pretty picture in the act of crowning.

The fifteen young ladies as banner carriers made a decided impression by their handsome and striking appearance. They were Misses Mary Rose Kelly, Annie, Nellie and Birdie Finegan, Katherine Hines, Annie Casey, Agnes McDonough, Sadie Daly, Blanche Gordon, Eliza Hannon, Mabel and Edna Quinlan, Susie Mullane, and Margaret Sweeney. The act of consecration was recited by little Alma Faust, whose voice could be heard distinctly over the large edifice.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Ann O'Neill, widow of the late Michael O'Neill, took place Thursday morning from St. Michael's church. For two years deceased had lived on Shelby street, and among her acquaintances she was held in high esteem. For some time her health had been poor, but until a short time before her death her friends entertained hope for her recovery.

John J. Zehnder, a well known German citizen and prominent member of St. Boniface church, who went West in search of health, was stricken when he reached Colorado Springs and sank rapidly. Miss Mary Gray and her wife, who lived on Shelby street, and among her acquaintances she was held in high esteem. For some time her health had been poor, but until a short time before her death her friends entertained hope for her recovery.

After a painful illness, borne with great fortitude, Mrs. Mary Kataline, wife of Frank Kataline and mother of Mamie and Frank Kataline, Jr., died Saturday at St. Joseph's infirmary, mourned by all who knew her. Before her marriage she was Mrs. Mary Greulich, and her funeral took place Monday morning and was largely attended.

The greatest sympathy is felt for Lawrence Dundon and his family, who last Saturday suffered the death of a loving wife and affectionate mother. Her death occurred at the family home, 1722 Pope street, and the news came as a shock to her many friends. Her funeral took place Monday from St. Francis of Rome church in Clifton. Rev. Father White officiating at the solemn mass of requiem.

William Doyle, a popular and respected young man of Jeffersonville, who last Saturday suffered the death of a loving wife and affectionate mother. Her death occurred at the family home, 1722 Pope street, and the news came as a shock to her many friends. Her funeral took place Monday from St. Francis of Rome church in Clifton. Rev. Father White officiating at the solemn mass of requiem.

CEDAR GROVE EXERCISES.

A preliminary commencement to the closing of the school session of Cedar Grove Academy was given Wednesday afternoon, consisting of vocal and instrumental solos, recitations and two pantomime farces, which were much enjoyed by the large audience present. Among those who took part were Misses Grace Pfanz, Dolores Cottrell, Estelle Fossee, M. J. Biehl, A. Hefferman, A. O'Brien, F. Storch, L. Hermann, F. Murphy, F. Webb, V. Walker, C. Jacquemin, M. Lyddan and M. O'Neill. Those who participated showed aptly the careful training they receive from the Sisters of Cedar Grove Academy, which still holds its reputation as one of the best educational institutions in the State.

FIRST MASS.

J. Proctor Knott Brenner, son of the late Carl Brenner, ordained this week by Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue at St. Meinrad's Abbey in Spencer county, Ind., and who will be known in religion as Father Henry. He is in the city visiting his mother and relatives. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Father Henry will celebrate his first Mass and bestow his blessing at St. Joseph's church. Webster and Washington streets, and the event will be of unusual importance to the congregation. Father Brenner has joined the Benedictine order, one of the oldest in the church, established by St. Benedict over 1,000 years ago.

RED HAT.

Cincinnati's Have Hope Honor or Will Go to Archbishop Moeller.

Holy Father Made Special Reference to That Energetic Churchman.

Pope Will Not Act During the Incumbency of Cardinal Gibbons.

ARCHBISHOP GLENNON MENTIONED

The Enquirer's Rome correspondent cables that the Knights of Columbus, among them several Cincinnatians, now touring Europe, are enthused over their visit to Rome. They were received in audience by the Holy Father, whom they presented with a handsome purse. Afterward they were accorded a special reception by the Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val. Three Cincinnati priests, Revs. F. Runnebaum, A. Drufer and W. Hahne, were among the number. They were glad to see the esteem in which the Archbishop of Cincinnati is held in Rome. Cardinal Gotti, Prefect of the Propaganda one of the highest and most influential ecclesiastics in Rome, referred in most glowing terms to the latter's brilliant work in Columbus and Cincinnati. Pope Pius himself, in an audience, expressed in no uncertain terms his appreciation of the zeal and administrative ability of Archbishop Moeller, as evidenced in his list brief career. His Holiness expressed himself as singularly well pleased at the prospect of the American Bishops in carrying out his motto proprio on church music reform. He made special reference to the "energetic Archbishop of Cincinnati."

This correspondent looks upon the deep interest, coming as it does in the wake of the much-mooted and recently reargued question as to the creation of another American Cardinal. Current rumor in Vatican circles has it that despite the well-known claims of Archbishops Ireland of St. Paul, Farley of New York, and Ryan of Philadelphia, Pope Pius may surprise all and appoint a dark horse, Archbishops Moeller, of Cincinnati, and Glennon, of St. Louis, being mentioned. It is generally conceded in ecclesiastical circles that the Pope will not act during the incumbency of Cardinal Gibbons.

It was definitely stated on good authority that in the event of Cardinal Gibbons' death two red hats would be distributed among the Archbishops of the United States in that contingency it is reasonable to surmise that a prelate from the East and one from the West will be appointed. Though the eminent qualities and vast influence of Archbishop Ireland point favorably toward him, still the impression here, caused by his liberalism and so-called Americanism, is still evident in the millets against him. His endeavors in the Spanish-American war are also the subject of much comment, and a great deal of adverse comment has emanated from the Storer incident.

Archbishop Ireland possesses vast influence and numbers his friends among the highest ecclesiastical circles in Rome. His popularity with Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt speaks strongly in his favor. The appointment of the Taft Commission and of a Papal Delegate to the United States are noteworthy feathers in his cap. It is said here that, with the possible exception of Pennsylvania, New York and the New England States, most of the States favor Ireland as a candidate for the red hat. Among the Italian Cardinals Ramerini and the late Cardinal Rampolla seems to have championed his cause. Among the great orders the Dominicans are his greatest friends, while the Jesuits and Franciscans are strongly against him. The Spanish Cardinals and Papal Secretary of State, Merry del Val, are openly arrayed against him. In view of these facts the mention of Archbishop Moeller's name is of special importance. The strong recommendation of late Archbishop Elder, and Archbishop Moeller's widely known administrative ability, together with the location of his diocese of Cincinnati in the great Middle West, come up as great factors in the interesting race for the red hat. Only a few days ago the Holy Father indicated that he might give America a surprise when it came to the appointment of the next Cardinal.

VISITING HIS BROTHER.

Frank J. Guilfoyle, of Albany, N. Y., arrived this week for an extended visit with his brother, Edward A. Guilfoyle, the Fourth-street tailor. During the short time he has been here Mr. Guilfoyle has become much impressed with Louisville and our people. Prominent in Albany business life, he was for two terms Grand Knight in the Knights of Columbus, and is now general manager of the immense Dobler brewery interests.

RECEIVED DIPLOMAS.

Wednesday night in the presence of an audience that filled Macaulay's Theater a class of forty-three graduates of the Jefferson Law School received their diplomas and are now ready to engage in the practice of law. The class officers were Messrs. Patrick H. Savage, Edward A. Guilfoyle, William P. McDonough and

FIELD MASS

For Those Who Lost Their Lives Defending Stars and Stripes.

Solemn Ceremony Held on Parade Ground of Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Twenty-five Thousand Persons Kneel During the Holy Sacrifice.

IMPRESSIVE AND BRILLIANT SCENE

More than 15,000 soldiers, sailors, city officials and citizens knelt on the parade grounds of the Marine Barracks in Brooklyn last Sunday under leaden skies at the elevation in the open field of solemn high mass on behalf of those who lost their lives in the wars of the United States. It was the fifth annual celebration of the mass, for which a magnificent altar had been erected. The ceremony was held under the auspices of Gloucester Naval Camp, United States Veterans. At least 10,000 persons had been unable to get into the inclosure, many of whom knelt on Flushing avenue. The scene in the navy yard was impressive and made picturesque by the bright uniforms of the army and navy and splendid vestments of the clergy.

At 10 o'clock, while the bands were playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," a number of altar boys, bearing in their hands golden chalice filled with incense and bells, began the processional march to the altar on the southern section of the parade grounds in front of the barracks. Clothed in shining golden vestments, carrying a cross of gold in his arms and chanting a prayer, the Rev. Father Reaney, celebrant of the mass and chaplain of the receiving ship Hancock, followed by the Rev. Fathers John P. Chidwick, of the ill-fated battleship Maine; William A. Olin, who was a Brigadier General in the civil war; John P. Nash, rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart; Chaplain Deschamps, of the Sixty-fifth Mount Royal Rifles of Montreal, and Chaplain McGroen, of the Brooklyn Fire Department, who acted as deacon, attended and solemnized the services. The First Regiment of the Uniformed Corps of the Knights of Columbus, 500 strong, acted as the guard of honor, and during the celebration of the mass surrounded the altar.

At each corner of the altar were huge white Ionic columns, each surmounted with a golden cross. The tabernacle, containing the Host, was decorated with flowers and palms. Around the base of the altar spring blossoms were banded. A choir of 50 voices, from the various churches in Greater New York, under the direction of Prof. Albert H. Caswell, sang the music of Hayden's Imperial Mass. For the first time in the history of the field mass representatives of three leading regiments of Canada attended and solemnized in full uniform. They were drawn up in column formation at the left of the altar with the Naval and Grand Army Posts, Sons of Veterans, Life Saving Corps of Long Island and the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Among the military and civil bodies represented, besides the United States Army and Navy, were the Sixty-ninth, Fourteenth and Forty-seventh Regiments, and Second Naval Battalion, N. G. S., N. Y.; First and Second Regiments of Irish Volunteers, Fifth Royal Scottish Highlanders of Montreal, Royal Irish Fusiliers of Halifax, Sixth and Ninth Regiments of Massachusetts, Hebrew Veterans Civil War, Confederate Veterans, Gloucester Command and Nineteen Camps of Spanish War Veterans, Hebrew Spanish-American War Veterans, Veterans Peking Relief Expedition, Veterans Russia-Japan War, G. K. Warren and Libby Camps, Sons of Veterans, the Brooklyn Fire Department, Knights of Columbus, Royal Arcanum, Catholic Benevolent Legion, Ancient Order Hibernians, Ladies' Catholic Benevolent League, Daughters of Isabella, Companions of the Forest, and the United States Volunteer Life-Saving Corps.

Prominent among those on the grandstand were Rear Admiral Coughlan, Major Gen. Grant, Police Commissioner Bingham, Deputy O'Keefe, Congressmen Calder, Walco, Law and Dunwell, Comptroller Metz, Borough Presidents Coler, Ahearn and Bernad and Major Gen. Roe. After the mass, although the rain began to fall, the soldiers decorated the graves of 2,885 heroes in the national cemetery in Cypress Hill.

FATHER BRADY BETTER.

The condition of Rev. Francis Brady, who has for some time past been seriously ill at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, has undergone a favorable change and he is thought to be improving. Father Brady is the assistant at St. Cecilia's, and the people there are praying for his speedy recovery and return.

RANKEST BIGOTRY.

We find it hard to express, in moderate terms, our disgust and indignation upon reading in the May number of the Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society, published in Frankfort, Ky., a stupid but rabid article (apparently an editorial) on the war now being waged against the Catholic Church by the Socialistic and infidel politicians of France. This magazine is issued under the auspices of the Kentucky State Historical Society and contains the statement that Mrs. Jennie C. Morton is the editor; that Gen. Fayette Hewitt and Capt. C. C. Calhoun are associate editors, and that Prof. G. C. Downing, the business manager, Gov. Beckham is President of the Kentucky State Historical Society, and on the Executive Committee are Judge J. P. Hobson and W. W. Longmoo. Such a magazine, if edited with taste and good sense, might be of some service to the State, but it may do much harm if left to incompetent hands. One would imagine that such men as those mentioned above might have sufficient influence over a publication—issued under the name of such a society and with their endorsement—to prevent its columns from being used for the printing of a stupid and narrow-minded tirade on a religious topic having nothing whatever to do with Kentucky or Kentucky history. With such a specimen of silly and provincial bigotry before us, what fairness or discretion or common sense can we expect from such a source in the treatment of any historical subject, even though it affects only our own State? This example shows how unfit half-educated and narrow-minded men and women are to write on any subject connected, even in the most remote way, with religion, and how untrustworthy their opinions are upon either temporary or historical questions of any complexity or importance. As long as such a magazine confines itself to quackery and puffery—to the sophomoric essays and grandiose gossip of village writers—it can do little harm, however trivial and commonplace its contributions; but when it enters the domain of religion or international politics, its half-educated scribbles can excite gods and men to laughter or contempt. The editors of the Register may well say: "I have reviewed myself incessantly. Nay, made a contract with a kindred spirit."

For mutual interchange of puffery. Gods! how we blow each other."

We publish in another column this contemptible and spiteful article on Pope Pius X. and the French clergy. We wish our people to know how the Kentucky State Historical Society is used to allow some half-educated, narrow-minded man or silly woman to air religious bigotry. Is such a senseless tirade were so published against any Protestant denomination there would be an uproar at once. We call on the officers of the Kentucky State Historical Society to say whether they approve or condemn this debasement of the purpose of this society. Would not the Catholic Church in Kentucky—a Catholic layman or a Catholic priest—have a fine chance for justice or fair treatment in such an organ of a historical society?

In the first place, the writer of this article does not understand at all the nature or merits of the controversy going on in France, nor the historical connection between the present status and the status before and after the French Revolution. In the second place, the writer does not know the wide difference between the relations of Church and State in this country and the relations of Church and State in France under the new law. In the third place, the writer's half-educated flippancy and spiteful, provincial bigotry are evident in every line.

For example, the writer speaks of Pius X., well known by intelligent men to be a good and learned and eminently practical man of affairs—first a pious, modest, successful priest and then a practical, eminent Bishop—as "an Egyptian Pharaoh, mummified, unwound and coming to life again in the twentieth century, a living anachronism," etc. The writer refers to "Mgr. Montagnini" as "the wily Italian," and says that "France has weakened the papal nose," etc.; that "the Pope, by his Jesuitical conduct, overreached himself," etc. Is this sort of silly, spiteful, womanish scribbling worthy of a State Historical Society magazine or worthy only of the "Mountain Squealer"? Is it not more becoming to a rural orator of mediocre mind and with a smattering of commonplace information than a writer of a historical magazine, where a little learning and a little refinement of mind and a little truthfulness should be expected? In the old days when bigotry and cant were common enough in all writing on the subject of religion, slurs at the Jesuits were common and popular, too, but to men of sense and learning now such phrases as "Jesuitical conduct" and the like always betray the bigot and the ass. Many learned, sensible Protestants—many high-minded Protestant ministers and well-edited Protestant newspapers—in this country, in England and in Germany, have said truly that no man who wishes well to Christianity can look with any thing but sadness and regret on the religious troubles in France; that only a bigot or an infidel can be pleased over the course of events there; that no man who rightly understands what real religious liberty is can be fooled for a moment by the hollow pretense that the present French Government is trying to establish a free church, such as we have in America.

During the French Revolution the Government confiscated all the property of the Catholic Church. Later, under the Concordat, extorted from the Pope by military force, a part of the Church property was restored to its former owners. An immense amount of the property was never restored at all but, in lieu thereof, the State (as a small rate of interest on the stolen property) agreed to pay petty salaries to the clergy, Protestant and Catholic. Again, the faithful contributed money to build new churches and pastoral residences, hospitals, asylums, schools and colleges. Under the new law, all that property (the new and the old) has been confiscated once more, and nearly a hundred thousand religious men and women, some grown old and infirm in the ministry or in nursing the sick or in keeping the poor and the orphans or in teaching the young, have been turned out of their homes like criminals. The people that owned the churches are now using them for religious services only by sufferance and they know not how soon they will be excluded from their own altars. Does any real Christian rejoice in that? Does anybody but a bigot or an infidel, who denies Christ and God himself, gloat over those men and women who gave up everything for their faith? Think of that great army of helpless men and women who stood by the Pope against the politicians—think of that army that have lost all worldly goods but have kept their allegiance in spite of clamor and poverty! And think how few deserters there were! Under the Concordat forced on the Pope by Napoleon, the Emperor, and later the politicians though atheists, had the power to choose the Bishops—the shepherds of the flock! Would the Protestants of Kentucky like to have the politicians of their cities or counties choose their pastors?

Under the new law of France, while the salaries of the clergy are gone and all the property of the church has been confiscated, the State regulates and dominates the church—inspects and controls its income and expenses, regulates the building and decoration of the houses of worship, the character of religious processions and the ringing of bells, the amount of money to be raised by the congregation, the creation of its debt, and reserves the right to settle disputes in a congregation, etc., etc. Would our Protestant people think that made religious worship free?

No true American, if well informed and a believer in Christianity, can look with anything but disgust on the efforts of the politicians of France to muzzle the Church and undermine all religion. We wonder whether the rural theologian that, after reading a few hurriedly-written newspaper articles, and undertaken to speak so pertly of things beyond his or her ken—this wise person "of the twentieth century"—approves the public speech of Mons. Briand, the member of the Cabinet in charge of religious worship, himself an admitted atheist, in which he said: "We have hunted Christ out of the schools, the hospitals and the army, and we will now hunt him out of France."

The Most Rev. Augustin Tovar, Archbishop of Lima, Peru, passed into eternity last Saturday morning. Under his pious administration the church prospered, and throughout the country all denominations mourn his death.

Just now there are in Rome quite a number of Bishops from the United States and many others prominent in public life, whose presence there is coupled with the aspirant of some candidate for the Cardinalate. The rumors and reports relative thereto are to be discounted, for they have no foundation in fact. The visits of the Americans are for a far different purpose than trying to influence Vatican appointments.

Rev. M. P. Hunt, our local preacher of A. P. A. fame, who delivers political sermons on Sunday with the expectation of seeing his picture in the paper on Monday, is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Prohibition ticket. After all the Democratic and Republican parties have something to be thankful for, but it does seem hard on the poor struggling Prohibition party.

In the population of New York City there are 789,000 persons of German parentage, 735,000 of Irish, 250,000 of Russian and 225,000 of Italian. Nearly all the larger cities make a proportionate showing for the Irish and Germans. Acting together what influence they could wield and how different would be their treatment at the hands of those who are half their number but seem more powerful.

Since 1870 Italy has steadily increased in population notwithstanding the enormous number that emigrated therefrom. The emigration question presents the gravest problem for Italy and also for the United States. According to present expectations this year the number of emigrants will reach one million, and of these the larger proportion will come to this country.

Many representative citizens have visited Frankfort and recommended the appointment of ~~John C. Fowler~~ for Mayor of this city. The governor would make no mistake in electing Dr. Fowler, who is in every way worthy the honor and possesses the confidence and respect of all our citizens, regardless of politics.

The appointment of Judge Carroll to the Court of Appeals will meet with hearty approval throughout the State. Blessed with integrity and ability of the highest order, it is everywhere hoped he will continue long in the honorable and responsible position.

Says Strength and Cohesion of Irish Party Has Been Secured.First Time in History Ireland
Put Veto on a British
Bill.Action Taken Will Not Delay
Home Rule a Single Hour.

DEVOLUTION GOES BY THE BOARD

"For the first time in history," said John Redmond last Saturday in Dublin in talking of the recent Irish National convention there, "the decision of a convention of Nationalists has decided the fate of a Government bill at Westminster. It was a noteworthy incident. Ireland won at least a veto on British legislation to which she objects and from being a negative to being a positive influence is but a step. The devolution idea has gone by the board, the influence of the Roseberryite group in the Cabinet has been killed and the strength and cohesion of the Irish party has been secured."

"It is my conviction that the convention's action will not delay home rule a single hour. A powerful and friendly government tried to embody the devolution idea in the bill, failed and no future government will renew the attempt. I anticipate that the present Parliament will be dissolved close to 1908 to enable the Government to appeal to the country against the House of Lords. The Liberal party's Irish programme must then be home rule. Had the convention accepted the devolution bill it would have been rejected in the House of Lords and devolution would have remained the high water mark of Liberal policy, not merely in the present Parliament, but in the next."

"Division of the party has been avoided. The bill might have been carried in the Commons, but only by a majority, and however large that majority dissension and the rupture of the movement and of the party would have followed. Now, on the contrary, I look for a great rally to the Nationalist opinion and a consolidation of the movement. Relations with the Liberals will not necessarily be ruptured immediately. I expect the Government to proceed forthwith with the evicted tenants' bill and probably with the National University bill."

"An overwhelming majority of the members of the Cabinet and the Liberals disapproved the limitations of the Irish Council bill imposed by the Roseberryites. The latter threatened to resign, and their resignation might have broken the Government. One effect of the Irish action will be to kill finally the influence of the Roseberryite group."

"The immediate effect in Ireland is a certain amount of irritation, while Irish voters in bi-elections in England will refuse to vote for Liberals unless they are out and out for home rule. There is a possibility of a deal of trouble in the West of Ireland, not directly due to disappointment at the council bill, but from the delay in action in dealing with the evicted tenants' bill by the Lord Dudley Commission in dealing with the congested districts in Ireland."

Premier Campbell-Bannerman announced Monday in the House of Commons that the Government is not ready to divulge its programme, and the questions relating to the Irish bill were postponed for a week.

SEVENTEEN ORDAINED.

Seventeen deacons were raised to the holy priesthood last Saturday morning in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City, Archbishop Farley presiding. Eleven were from St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, the other six, of the Paulist order, from the Catholic University in Washington, which is affiliated with the New York diocese. In addition to those raised to the priesthood twenty-two young men were advanced from sub-deacon to deaconship. The sanctuary of the Cathedral was filled during the ceremony, which lasted three hours, by friends and relatives of the young priests.

News Notes.

The Milwaukee degree team will initiate a large class at Kenosha next week.

Twenty-nine candidates received the degrees at the last meeting of Division 1 at Racine, Wis.

The members of Division 1 of Memphis received holy communion in a body last Sunday at St. Brigid's church.

Last Monday night the Ladies' Auxiliary of Milwaukee held an open meeting, which was addressed by Prof. Rohan, of Marquette College.

Our Paris Ladies' Auxiliary gave the most enjoyable and successful euchre last week that has ever been held there. The hall was thronged and many handsome prizes were awarded. Many have requested that another be given.

Mrs. P. J. Sheridan, State President of the auxiliary in New Hampshire, visited Portsmouth recently and organized a splendid division. She made a house to house canvas, seventy-five ladies paying their initiation fee and many more pledging themselves to become members at the next meeting.

When the Ladies' Auxiliary of Worcester, Mass., celebrated its fifth anniversary in the Hibernian building the hall was decorated in the colors of the auxiliary and the young women wore white. In front of the President's desk was a small table on which was the anniversary cake, a wedding concert, embellished with five red candelabra, which were lighted when the entertainment began.

Owing to the increase in numbers in Milwaukee the Hibernians have moved to the Alhambra Theater and have a hall with the Knights of Columbus. Sixty members have been received into the division since January, and it now numbers 450. Sixty candidates are waiting initiation on June 19, which will bring the total membership to over 500. An effort will be made to increase this to 650 before the close of the year.

Delegations were present from Limerick, Belfast and other places, expressing the fervent wish that the Bishop of Kilmore might be long spared to discharge the duties of his sacred office.

Beneath the ruins of the magnificent Holyrood abbey a historic and pleasing function took place, being the celebration of the diamond jubilee of the Rev. John O'Brien, pastor of the churches at Holyrood and Ballycathill, Tipperary. In his time Father O'Brien has known four Archbishops, and in connection with O'Connell's repeal agitation he took a manly and active part, and was also prominently identified in the movement for tenant right and independent opposition. From the inception of the home rule movement he was foremost in the ranks of the followers of Butt and Parnell, and has followed the national cause with stalwart steadiness and remarkable vigor. Though bowed down with weight of years the diocesan patriarch is still actively engaged in the discharge of his parochial duties and appears hale and hearty.

They are looking forward to the happy day with pleasant anticipation.

NEXT WEDNESDAY INSTEAD.

The musicale which was to have been given by local council 390, of the Knights of Columbus last Wednesday, will take place next Wednesday evening, June 5. This affair will be given for the Knights, their wives and lady friends, and the entertainment committee promises that on account of the additional time they have had they will submit a programme par excellence.

BLESS PEACE

But Declares Just Combat
Awakens Spirit of Self-
Sacrifice.Archbishop Ireland's Notable
Sermon Delivered
Sunday.Giving One's Life For Country
the Highest Mark of Virtue.

LABOR THAT WAR BE UNNECESSARY

Archbishop John Ireland, in a Memorial day sermon preached at the Cathedral in St. Paul last Sunday to members of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which he is the National Chaplain, and officers and enlisted men from Fort Snelling, glorified a just war, and took the ground that nothing will so bring home to the people a sense of righteousness and awaken in them the spirit of disinterested self-sacrifice, so necessary to the life of a great and high-minded nation. The Archbishop said in part: "The highest mark of virtue is the giving of one's life. The embodiment of patriotism is in those who are soldiers of their country, ever saying to it—country, speak, and I am ready even unto death. Hence the honor which we owe to country and to the country's flag is due to the men who are by special mission the guardians of the flag, whose work every day is a work of supreme devotion; whose heart's blood is ever ready to flow rather than to allow dishonor or defeat to rest upon the flag of their country. We can not disassociate the soldier from the flag, as we can not disassociate the flag from the soldier."

"America needs its soldiers. Much is said of universal peace, of methods of arbitration by which peace shall be secured without recourse to the sword. We bless peace; we pray for its coming. Peace is ever the ideal, but will the ideal ever come until we have crossed the threshold of the kingdom of the skies? No doubt we should work for universal peace, holding up ever before our minds the ideal; we must labor so that war be not necessary, so that when war does come it be in forms least cruel. Let us cultivate among nations a love for one another, so that war shall never be declared by one against another unless there is absolute necessity; so that when on the battlefield the soldiers of one army meet the soldiers of another, whether that other be his captor or his captive, he will still say—we are brothers."

"Terrible is war; fearful is the battle, yet when the battle re-echoes righteousness, when its purpose is holy and noble, the battle is sublime. Nothing more grand, more magnificent than the advent of tens of thousands of men bearing their very lives in their hands, in defense of a just and noble cause. In that moment they are lifted far above the cold inspirations of earth; they ascend in the nobility of their sacrifice to the very skies. A battle for justice is a high lesson to the whole people; that there is something more worthy of love, more worthy of life than gold and silver, than counting houses and ships of commerce. It evokes into action that most beautiful of virtues; it freshens and strengthens the whole spiritual life of a nation. May war seldom come, may the need of war seldom confront the country, but withal, we are permitted to ask, what so well as a just war will bring home to the whole people the sense of righteousness and awaken in them the spirit of disinterested self-sacrifice so necessary to the life of a great and high-minded nation."

NEEDS ASSISTANCE.

The ladies of St. Aloysius' church at Pewee Valley are arranging to give an ice cream supper and summer outing on Wednesday, June 24, for which tickets will be twenty-five cents and entitle the purchaser to supper or ice cream. The Louisville and Eastern railroad runs to and from Pewee Valley every thirty minutes and a good attendance is expected from this city, as Rev. Father Edward Boes, the pastor, has a great many friends here who are desirous of aiding him in his struggling parish.

LARGE CLASS.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. will hold their regular meeting next Wednesday evening at Robinson's Hall, Seventeenth and Main streets, and about 100 candidates will be given the third and fourth degrees, as there are a great many members who have never received the entire four degrees. State President Miss Mary Corcoran will be in charge of the initiation.

TRANSFERRED

To Another Field of Labor is Father Griffin, of New Albany.

Rev. Patrick Griffin, assistant rector of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, has been transferred by Bishop Chatard to St. Limon's church, Washington, D.C. Father Halpin, of Indianapolis, will succeed Father Griffin. The transfer of Father Griffin is said to be in the nature of promotion, though he goes to a smaller city. St. Limon's is one of the largest congregations in Southern Indiana. General regret is expressed in New Albany that Father Griffin is to be transferred. During his stay in that city he has endeared himself to all the members of his congregation, and to many outside of the church. He is a young clergyman of great promise, and should he retain his health he is destined to be one of the leading Catholic clergymen of the diocese of Indianapolis. Father Griffin will leave for his new field of labor some time next week. Father Curran, rector of Holy Trinity, has had an able and energetic and scholarly assistant in the person of Father Griffin, and of course he regrets to lose him, but a priest, like a soldier, has to move when his Bishop so directs.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Will Repeat Its Operatic
Success Next Tuesday Night.

"The Dreamers," in which the Mackin Council Choral Club last week made a phenomenal hit, will be given again at the Mary Anderson Theater next Tuesday night, with the same superb cast and chorus.

So numerous were the requests for a repetition that the Choral Club thought the above action almost necessary. The performances given last week proved such a big success that on the second night a standing room was sold, and even then many people were turned away. "The Dreamers" has been pronounced by those who saw it to be one of the best amateur productions ever presented in our city. Aulyn Kanston and the company have been holding rehearsals every night this week, and they expect the repetition to excel the splendid performances already given.

ANTIQUITY OF AMUSEMENTS.

The Romans and ancient Greeks bestowed the highest products of skill and art upon their places of amusement. Their most beautiful temples were devoted to mirth and pleasure. While the larger cities of the United States have made some progress along this line none of them are now ahead of Louisville. The erection of White City, with its half a hundred exclusive features in full operation, was a stride in the world. But what's the odds so long as you're happy? What matter it how your ancient progenitors amused themselves if you find enjoyment in what is provided in the up-to-date features at Louisville's White City.

FINE PICNIC PARK.

The Messrs. Summers, owners of Ninaweb Park, just at the entrance to Jacob Park, in another column announce their place open for church and society and high class outings. Well shaded, spacious and greatly improved and easy of access, those contemplating summer outings will find this an ideal spot. The Hibberts will hold their annual celebration there next month, and there is no doubt but that many others will follow.

MACKIN WINS MORE HONORS.

A large and appreciative audience heard an interesting and instructive debate at Mackin club house Tuesday night. The subject included the three branches of government, legislative, judicial and executive. Mackin contended for the first and Satolli Council for the second, Trinity not being represented. Attorney Robert T. Burke and Charles I. Cate spoke for Mackin and were declared the winners, this being their second victory.

Mr. Struck claims to have the finest "Old Dutch" in this section and invites all to pay him a visit.

ONLY SIX DAYS.

Louisville Jockey Club Meeting Will Close Next Saturday.

This afternoon will end the fifth week of the Louisville Jockey Club spring meeting at Churchill Downs, leaving but six days more of the sport. Up to the present there has been the best attendance, breaking all former records, which shows that the people appreciate the racing furnished. The sport has been above any suspicion and it is conceded that the best and fastest horses ever quartered in the West have been and are now contending for the purses hung up at this track. Today two events are to be decided in which there is the greatest interest—the Louisville steeplechase and Gentlemen's cup, both for three-year-olds and upward and for which excellent fields are carded. Another big event will be the Frank Fehr stakes for Wednesday, for which there will be a battle royal between those horses that have not yet captured any of the big stakes. The Kentucky Oaks, a prize that is dear to the owners of three-year-old fillies, will be run next Saturday, when the meeting will end. Each day there will be six races and some of the most exciting finishes of the season may be looked for, as horses of more than ordinary merit are yet to come together.

ANNUAL OUTING.

Trinity Council Has Secured
the White City For June 17.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., has secured the White City for its annual outing, which will take place on Monday, June 17, and the members expect to make this the occasion for a record-breaking crowd. Many special attractions will be prepared for the amusement of the ladies and children, and the band concerts in the afternoon and evening will be something of a treat for all who attend. Members and their friends will go down after dinner in special cars, which will run on the Walnut and Broadway lines to accommodate the crowds. Dancing will be one of the features, and young people are forming a number of parties to grace the occasion. Out-of-town counsils are going to have excursions to the White City, and it will surely be a representative Y. M. I. affair. The proceeds will be devoted to the new club house building fund.

FONTAINE FERRY POPULAR.

There was rain and cool weather a-plenty during the week, but it failed to affect the enthusiasm of the seekers after outdoor amusement, and Fontaine Ferry Park recorded a good attendance daily. The "Ferry" roller rink, declared by many skating enthusiasts to be the best in the city, continues in popularity, and many clubs have asked for dates for skating parties. As usual, there will be a complete change in the vaudeville programme at Hopkins Pavilion for the week beginning tomorrow afternoon, and judging from the bookings announced another excellent bill is in sight. The Royal Hawaiian Serenaders, extra free attraction in the garden, will enter on their third and last week at the park as soloists in the band concerts given every afternoon and evening by Cook's Military Band. Bandmaster Cook has won a place in the hearts of the "Ferry" patrons by the arranging and rendering of such excellent musical programmes. The alter turns are declared to be the most artistic offerings ever seen in vaudeville.

MEMPHIS.

The one council of the Young Men's Institute, that at Memphis, is reported as making nice progress under the administration of President George Lawo. Meetings are well attended and interesting and new members are being secured. The council expects to have a big time at Edgewood Park on June 12, and the Sunday following has been set as the day when all the members are expected to approach holy communion.
